The Taylor-Johnson Temperament Analysis (T-JTA) measures nine basic personality traits, or attitudes and behavioral tendencies that are important components of personal adjustment and that significantly influence interpersonal relationships. The T-JTA is designed to help you understand the role of these traits and their implications in your everyday life, to reveal the way you view your present circumstances, and perhaps, to provide a new way to look at any overall problems you may currently be experiencing.

This Criss-Cross Report Sheet is designed to assist you in remembering what you learned during the T-JTA interpretation, to reinforce areas of strength and to focus your attention on areas for further exploration or discussion. Your results represent your feelings about yourself at the time you answered the T-JTA questions. When a Criss-Cross is completed, the T-JTA results also show the way another person describes you when answering the same questions.
